CO-OPERATIVE MEASURES

Organized in the Housing Co-Operative Exchange Program at Different Occupations and Poles

As a result, the co-operative movement, these co-operatives are usually organized in the same line of work and are interested in about the same things. In Columbus and Albuquerque, the co-operative store idea is fostered by the railroad employees, in certain mining towns, only miners are represented, and in other places merchants or groups interested in other lines are combining their efforts to support a store. But in Deming, everybody thinks the co-operative idea is a failure. The institution has been looking for, and has found, the movement for better for worse.

The roll of more than 100 stockholders represents the following:

Farmers, farm laborers, stockmen, auto dealers, auto mechanics, contractors, doctors, dentists, barbers, carpenters, plumbers, teachers, locomotive mechanics, furniture dealers, railroad clerks, grocers, stock brokers, store clerks, retail employees, lawyers, electricians, bank clerk and bookkeepers, merchants, real estate men, county officials, city trustees, civil engineers, insurance men, mine promoters, miners, druggists, opticians, blacksmiths, lumber dealers, firemen, jitney drivers, etc.

One would naturally think that when such a bunch, representing such a variety of occupations, unite their efforts in a project for the mutual benefit, there must be a good reason. However, when such a bunch gets together, one would think that they could put the job over just as successfully as they did when united to whip the Hun.

STRAY CAT BEHEEMS A WOMAN'S SOUL

"You're a rat!"

That's about the worst thing one woman can say to another. Gals have always typified deceit, cruelty and hypocrisy. History has had a stigma on the cat's paw of men. The cat has been associated with witches and goblins. She is an omen of evil; and, if there is bad luck in a day, some cat is surely the cause of it. Was in the unfortunate person whose path is crossed by a black cat in the early morning?

For every person of the hand the cat has left at least three carcases from old shoes and mother-in-law's pie-plate. For ages the cat on the back yard fence has been a favorite target for cast-off foot-wear and milk bottles. One year suffices in bringing down a hat of breakables upon her.

What a long face hilly path as he announces "The cat came back." It's always bad news; for unless it's the cat, you're tired; for down in the washbasin it's some unwelcome visitor pestering you again. It may be the rent man or your fifth cousin by marriage, come from Northern Arizona.

Then, cats are reported to have nine lives, and that's something to reckon with.

There is only one instance known in history where the cat has been a bearer of good. William Fox, the producer of motion pictures, has discovered it. He has used
